PRESIDENT TRUMP!

It's early morning on November 9th and I'm running on empty. The American voter turned back a continuation of Obama's policies for another four years. They rejected the "Unaffordable Care Act," the continued loss of manufacturing jobs, a depleted military and the elite establishment.

President-elect Trump resonated with the heart and soul of Americana. They were tired of seeing their President apologize to world leaders over our past policies. They knew that past trade deals did not bring the promise of more jobs. They were fed up with corruption on both sides of the aisle. They knew that local decisions about the teachings in their schools was better than Big Brother. Trump will now become Obama's legacy.

Never before in a Presidential election did the main stream media lose any sense of objectivity. Major networks and newspapers became an adjunct of the Clinton campaign, a Fifth Column. They attacked from all sides. Yet, the American voter was undeterred.

For the non-political junkies amongst us, here are a few clips from Trump's victory speech:

- "Hillary has worked very long and very hard over a long period of time, and we owe her a major debt of gratitude for her service to our country. Now it's time for America to bind the wounds of division; have to get together. To all Republicans and Democrats and independents across this nation, I say it is time for us to come together as one united people.
- "As I've said from the beginning, ours was not a campaign, but rather an incredible and great movement made up of millions of hard-working men and women who love their country and want a better, brighter future for themselves and for their families. It's a movement comprised of Americans from all races, religions, backgrounds and beliefs who want and expect our government to serve the people, and serve the people it will."
- "Working together, we will begin the urgent task of rebuilding our nation and renewing the American dream. I've spent my entire life and business looking at the untapped potential in projects and in people all over the world. That is now what I want to do for our country. Tremendous potential. I've gotten to know our country so well — tremendous potential. It's going to be a beautiful thing. Every single American will have the opportunity to realize his or her fullest potential. The forgotten men and women of our country will be forgotten no longer.”

- “We are going to fix our inner cities and rebuild our highways, bridges, tunnels, airports, schools, hospitals. We’re going to rebuild our infrastructure, which will become, by the way, second to none. And we will put millions of our people to work as we rebuild it. We will also finally take care of our great veterans.”

Career politicians, trapped in the bubble of Washington, D.C., didn’t understand the mood of Americana. But a billionaire did, and now he will become the 45th President of the United States.
